ADVERTISE IN THE VICTORIA EVENING TIMES

LIBERALS AND TORIES CONFIDENT

BOTH SIDES PREDICT THEY WILL GAIN SEATS

Duke of Marlborough Scores Lloyd George—Lively Meeting at Manchester

London, Nov. 28.—Liberals and Tories both speak with confidence about scoring a victory; but it is doubtful whether each equally feel it. Recollections of prophecies and even calculations made January last remind the eager partizan how far afield the prophecies were. The Liberals confidently believe they will considerably improve their present position and are predicting a gain of twenty to thirty seats. The Tories a short time ago only hoped to reduce the Liberal majority, but now hope to secure a majority.

The action of the House of Lords in passing the Reform resolutions has materially affected the position they believe. Whether this is so it is impossible to say. A multitude of Londoners shift their quarters so frequently that the task of tracing removals will be enormous. On the whole, this is more advantageous to the Liberals than the Tories.

Dissolution will be determined at a meeting of the Privy Council at Marlborough House at 3.30 this afternoon, but the lateness of the hour, probably precludes writs reaching the returning officers on the same evening.

Campaign in Full Swing.

The election campaign is in full swing, and the country is flooded with oratory and literature. Billboards are covered with cartoons. The public, however, is not showing the interest evinced in the two previous contests. The lack of enthusiasm is noted in the number of uncontested seats.

In some of the northern constituencies where there is no likelihood of a change, the Unionists and Liberals have agreed not to oppose each other. In other places the candidates who secured overwhelming majorities last January have been awarded a walk-over. Among the fortunate ones are Joseph Chamberlain, for Birmingham West, and Arthur S. Lee, for Hants, Fareham division.

The big fight of the election will occur in the North Manchester constituency, R. Barrow, Unionist, having vacated his seat for Dulwich to oppose Sir George Kemp, the Liberal member. Wales and Scotland are expected to reinforce the Liberals and the leaders are even looking for the return of some of the Irish seats lost in January.

Another interesting contest will be furnished by Portsmouth, Edward George Hemmerde, the Liberal member for Hampshire, like Andrew Bonar Law is giving up a constituency and will attempt to wrest the Portsmouth seat from Lord Charles Beresford. Any increase in the followers of William O'Brien is improbable. It is possible that he will lose one seat in Cork, which John E. Redmond, who is invading the enemy's territory, hopes to win.

The report is circulated in Unionist quarters that unless there is some substantial change in the strength of the parties, the leaders have agreed again to confer and thus avoid the necessity of calling in the King to intervene in a grave situation before the coronation.

Replies to Lloyd George.

The Duke of Marlborough, resenting Lloyd George's attack on the aristocracy as "battered by American dollars," speaking at Kewstock, spoke of the chancellor in terms which show to what degree personal bitterness has been injected into the campaign.

"Within the last few days," said the Duke, "Lloyd George has been down to Whitechapel, where, as he said, no peers reside, and where, as he forgot to say, he does not reside himself. When Lloyd George did me the honor of staying at Blenheim nearly three years ago I certainly did not expect I should eventually become the target for his insolent and unsavory invectives."

"At that time I must have thought him a gentleman. But he seems to have since reverted to his type and to have become himself. In his later appearance he is neither a pleasant nor an edifying spectacle. What do the real poor people think, what can they think, of this sham poor man, wallowing himself in every luxury which £5,000 a year can bring, while he stirs the embers of class hatred? Are his years ago I certainly did not expect I should eventually become the target for his insolent and unsavory invectives."

subscriptions to charity larger than another man's? I except, of course, from this question the damages which he obtained in his libel actions, and which were to go to charity, but of the precise destination of which I am unaware. And let me point out to Mr. George that it is cowardly to attack Lords through their ladies, and that his insults touch at least one of his cabinet colleagues."

Lloyd George in his speech asked when the British aristocracy had started despising American dollars. Many noble houses on tottering foundations had been restored by American dollars, he remarked, and he added that in twenty years eighty million dollars had been paid by Irish peasants across the sea in cruel rack rents to aristocratic Irish landowners.

Upon this, somebody in the audience called out the name of Duke of Marlborough.

According to the reports in the papers, Lloyd George himself did not mention Marlborough's name.

Raising Spirit of Unrest.

Addressing a Manchester meeting, Bonar Law made a solemn protest in playing with the spirit of unrest against the action of Mr. Lloyd George that is abroad among the working classes. He referred especially to the South Wales riots. This spirit of unrest, if not properly controlled, might go to lengths which those now fanning it never dreamed of. Not for a moment, said Mr. Law, did he mean that the conservative party or any other party might stung into a dam against these currents, for such did not exist without a cause. Statesmanship consisted in remedying the cause by reasonable reforms, but there were men who played on the weakness of the people as formerly king's favorites played on the weakness of monarchs, and for the same purpose, to obtain power. Mr. Lloyd George was raising a spirit which when the time came he would find himself helpless to allay. Men like Mr. Asquith, Sir Edward Grey and Mr. Haldane did not imitate Mr. Lloyd George's methods, but supported his acts. The same thing had happened in every question that had arisen.

An interrupter asked "whether Mr. Law would repeat his slander that Mr. Asquith had sold the King." Mr. Law replied: "I did not say he sold the King. I said he sold the crown in order to get his budget. He did deliberately ask bringing the King into the mire of party controversy."

Dealing with the Lords, Mr. Law encountered opposition. He said the government proposals would create a single chamber government. At this there were cries of dissent. He declared that the Liberal party would in two years abolish the crown.

There was a loud uproar, and Mr. Law is soon as he was able to make himself heard, added: "You may not like having the case put to you that way, but I say without the shadow of a doubt that if the Commons, under these veto resolutions, chooses to abolish the crown, it would have the power to do so. (Renewed uproar). It would create Kelt Hardie president of the English republic."

Canadian's Campaign.

W. M. Aiken, of Montreal, has been adopted as the Unionist candidate for Ashton-under-Lyne. Addressing a gathering numbering thousands, he gratefully promised a straight, vigorous fight, a fight to win. He said that the Irish party had become the balance of power in the House of Commons. This party, which did not represent the Irish people, and a Radical government which did not represent the majority of the voters of England, were compelling the House to deprive the Lords of its veto power. The time was not opportune for home rule, he said, especially as efforts were being made to consolidate this great Empire. He warmly advocated tariff reform, and detailed the improvements that had been effected in Cuba, Porto Rico, and the West Indian Islands by the preferential treatment they received from the United States, while at the same time British manufacturers were forced out of the market.

Thinking Themes

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(By Dr. Frank Crane.)
Politician is a word that has developed an unpleasant flavor. But why? A politician is merely one who is politic, one who uses policy and is polite to the people.

The gist of policy is timeliness. Even Jesus did not come until the "fulness of time." Morality must look at the clock. Polygamy was allowable for Abraham E. C., but not for us A. D. So when you insist that co-operation ought to replace competition, that the state ought to own and operate railroads or that criminals should be cured and not punished, the politician tells you to go back to bed, you are up too early.

Garrison and Phillips paid no attention to the clock: Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation just on the hour it was due.

The line is hard to draw in this matter. If one is too reckless, he is a fanatic; if too careful he is a time-server. Perhaps we need both; the martyrs to the truth (those who speak it too soon), and the politicians (those who study the people and adjust the quality and dose of truth to their condition.)

Here, as in all seas of life, the problem is complex and not simple, and we have to steer between Scylla and Charybdis.

A STUDY IN CONTRASTS.

The question of French-Canadian Nationalism seems to still be a live one in Eastern Canada and has engaged the attention of Parliament to some extent during the debate on the address. One of the French-Canadian leaders, Armande Lavergne, has been trying to smooth matters over and avers that he and his compatriots did not say the things during the recent election which it was stated they did say. Mr. Lavergne is a clever young orator and has made a good impression in many quarters. He is credited with having written one of the most reckless of the pamphlets distributed during the campaign, and he worked side by side with Mr. Bourassa. The following is a quotation from Mr. Bourassa's own newspaper, Le Devoir, of the report of a speech by Mr. Lavergne delivered at Farnham:

"It is an irony of fate for him (Mr. Lavergne) that he has no children. Ten years hence, or perhaps sooner, he will have disappeared from the scene of politics. For fifteen years he has trodden on everything sacred to his compatriots in order to make a pedestal for the English who flatter the titles, medals and decorations. Perhaps we men of today will not suffer very much from such a policy. You heads of families—old men who have one foot in the grave, you perhaps will be asleep in death before the disastrous effects of this infamous policy are felt; but you have children. I see some in this meeting who smile over the future of their country. They are eight or ten years old. They were brought up on the knees of their mothers, and they count on you to protect them, from all the dangers which may reach them, but when fifteen years hence you heads of families will not be any longer here—but your wives may still be here—when fifteen years hence your wives will see the agent of the government, having in his hands this accused act, and addressing each one of them, he will say: 'Good mother, thou must give one of thy sons not to defend their native soil, but to fight on all the lands and seas of the world on behalf of the English flag.

Then, when your wives will learn some months later that an Austrian shell, a Japanese cannon ball, or a German bullet will have disembowelled their children, and that they have fallen over precipices or collapsed on the deck of a ship, do not think they will then say:

"Very well, my husband was wrong, and it is Mr. Lavergne who passed that Act. He did well. No, they will curse you, and it will be only right."

Contrast with that the recent statement of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in a letter sent to La Presse, in which he courageously nails his colors to the mast in the following words:

"I do not believe that I am at the head of Canada for my personal satisfaction. My duty is to work for a strong and respected country. I do not think that my compatriots of the province of Quebec will be on this subject of a different disposition from mine. More than that, they would have the right to find fault with me if I shrink from the task which is assigned to me—to make 'Canada' worthy of marching head erect in the British Empire in the face of the entire world."

That the country as a whole will endorse the statesman rather than the agitator is certain. It will probably be a year or two before there is a general election, and by that time the French-Canadians will have learned to see things in their true light. The Latin flurry will have disappeared, and the nation will have been proved to have been a huge, and the navy will have become a settled institution.

TECHNICAL INSTITUTE.

Dr. Bryce, one of the members of the Technical Education Commission, has suggested that a technical institute be established at Nelson to serve the people of upper British Columbia. The suggestion seems to be a very good one. We should like to see a similar institute established at Victoria for the purpose of serving the people of the coast. The British Columbia University is to go to the mainland. We cannot help that, although we feel as strongly as ever that it should have been located here. That, however, has nothing to do with the establishment of a technical institute. Victoria is the best location for it for the same reason that it would have been the best location for a university. The city is growing very fast and with its growth will come a great need for such an institute as that suggested. The industries of Vancouver Island alone will make it necessary.

Speaking in Calgary a few days ago Dr. Robertson, chairman of the Commission on Technical Education, referred to the ability of the men who were trained in England. These men received their training at a technical institute, and the training was given them almost free of cost. That Canada should be behind the Old Country in this matter seems to be absurd. Why should we not in a rich country like this have all the advantages they have on the other side of the ocean? There is no good reason to be advanced against it, except perhaps the apathy of the government. Doubtless the commission will in its report make some recommendations, but this will be a year hence. We cannot see any good reason why steps should not at once be taken to establish a technical institute in this city, the capital of the province and the industrial centre for Vancouver Island.

Toronto is still agitating for the establishment of a juvenile court such as we have in this city. Thus does the East lag behind the West.

The statement made by Dr. Shearer in regard to the rotten state morality of the city of Winnipeg has had the effect of forcing a civic inquiry. This may or may not do some good.

Professor Robertson of the Technical Education Committee is doing some splendid educational work throughout the country. In nearly every city he has addressed the Canadian Club or some other representative institution on some phase of the work in which he is interested. We hope Victoria will not be an exception.

The Education Department of the province of Alberta is revising the course of studies in the public schools. The chief value of these periodic changes is that they help to keep the teachers out of a rut, and they make business for the book publishers.

Those Albertans who advocate the taking over of the vacant provincial lands in that province from the Dominion government should take a glance at the conditions as they obtain in British Columbia, where an unscrupulous Conservative administration has all the power and uses its lands for the benefit of that party.

If the ideas of the majority of correspondents as to the fitness of matter for publication coincided with the ideas of editors, newspaper men would assuredly have lively times, the courts would be kept busy, and lawyers would prosper. Just at present there seems to be an epidemic of writer's dementia sweeping over Victoria. Apropos, N. H. Morris has addressed us on the subject of the relative cost of street work during summer and winter seasons. Our correspondent should have addressed his letter to Ald. Bannerman.

The French Canadian Nationalists seem to be reactionaries all round. Not only are they opposed to the Canadian navy and to the predominance of one language, but they also advocate an alliance between church and state. In an interview recently in Toronto Mr. Lavergne is stated to have said:

"The Nationalist party was at first more like a Canadian Club, formed by young Liberals to spread their views. It is now political to a large extent, but what we think is this—the Protestant minority in Quebec should be protected in the matter of language and schools just as we want protection for the Catholic minority in other provinces. The French-Canadians alone have the same right as the English throughout the Dominion. There is no talk of the authority of the church exceeding that of the state, but while I have not delved very deeply into the subject, I think that it is better for the people if the church and state work together. This does not apply only to the Catholic church. I mean any church. As far as I know, the Catholic dogma is that in a Catholic country the church and state should be allied."

FIFTH BAND CONCERT.

A crowded house heard a delightful programme rendered in the Victoria theatre last evening by the Fifth Regiment band, assisted by vocalists. The band was thirty-five strong and an effective background was afforded by two large Union Jacks draped back of the stage. Fittingly, the opening selection was Rosenkrantz' "Our Glorious Flag." The gem of the evening was undoubtedly the Miserere from the "Trovatore," which was magnificently rendered. Bandman Brett took the baritone part as a trombone solo from the balcony. The selection from "Faust" proved a popular number and had to be repeated. The overture from "The Count of Essex" (Mercandier) was heard for the first time here and proved to be a fine piece of music, admirably played. The vocalists of the band were shown in the delicately shaded paraphrase from Rubenstein's famous "Melody in F." Miss Lillian Palmer's cultured soprano voice was heard to great advantage in "Lead, Kindly Light" and she had to respond with a second number. The duet "Hark, Hark, My Soul," was sung by the Misses Lillian and Beatrice Palmer very sweetly and was encored. Harry Griffiths, accompanied by the band, sang "Dream of Paradise" in fine style.

Bandmaster Rogers and his fellow musicians are to be congratulated on the whole concert from an artistic point of view.

GOMPERS RE-ELECTED.

Again Chosen President of the American Federation of Labor.

St. Louis, Nov. 28.—In the face of strong opposition on the part of Socialists attending the convention, and after many of the delegates sided with this party had left the hall, Samuel Gompers Saturday was re-elected president of the American Federation of Labor. James Duncan, John Mitchell, and James O'Connell were re-elected first, second and third vice-presidents respectively. Victor Berger, of Milwaukee, Socialist congressman-elect, Max Hayes, of Cleveland, and other leaders of the party who have worked to overthrow Gompers, saw inevitable defeat and refused to attend the final session.

The chief contest, which in itself was extended to the closing day, resulted in indefinite postponement of the Western Federation of Miners' application for charter in the American Federation. The question of granting the Western miners a charter was bitterly opposed by the International Association of Machinists, and was referred to the executive council which will decide at its next meeting.

A sensational feature of the convention was the announcement of President Gompers that there should be no hard and fast rule governing the jurisdiction of trade unions. Several hundred letters have been received by President Gompers inquiring if he had opposed the organization of colored men. In answer to this, a resolution was presented signed by all the executive officers of the federation, in which it was stated that the organized labor movement knows no race, no color, no creed, no nationality, no political party.

Delegates McParland and Daniel J. Tobin were elected fraternal delegates to Great Britain and W. J. Tracy to Canada. Frank Morrison, of Washington, D. C., was re-elected secretary, and John B. Lennon, of Birmingham, Ill., treasurer. Eight vice-presidents were elected as follows: James Duncan, Quincy, Mass.; John Mitchell, New York; James O'Connell, Washington, D. C.; S. A. Hayes, Philadelphia; A. M. D. Huber, Indianapolis; Joseph G. Valentine, Chicago; John R. Aldine, Chicago, and H. B. Peham, St. Louis.

The 1911 convention will be held in Atlanta, Ga.

A statistician has calculated that the average of the world wears away to the extent of one ton-weight per annum.

GULF ISLANDS ARE LINKED BY CABLE

Section Between the Campbell River and Quathaski Cove on Valdez Island

Telephone and telegraphic communication has been established between Campbell river and Quathaski cove, on Valdez Island in the Dominion government's general scheme to connect Vancouver Island, Valdez Island, Mary Island and other islands between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

A government survey party having the construction of the line and the cable-laying work in charge succeeded in laying a deep-sea cable from the mouth of Campbell river over to Quathaski cove last week after three days' work. This party, under the charge of Mr. Porter of Victoria, is now at work on Mary Island.

The cable from Campbell river to Quathaski cove is two knots in length. Messages have already been sent over it from the store of W. E. Anderson of Quathaski to Charles Thulin of Campbell river.

LOST IN WOODS.

Hunters who Disappeared Last Tuesday Found By Search Party

Everett, Wn., Nov. 28.—Starved and so weak that they could hardly walk, three hunters, Chas. Snyder, and Charles and Willard Davis, were found wandering aimlessly in the forest near Canyon Creek by a search party headed by Forest Ranger Bruckner yesterday, and were taken to the Standard logging company's camp, where they are recuperating. The men became lost last Tuesday while hunting near Hazel. They had sustained life by eating slugs and berries. The trio were going deeper into the forest when they found themselves lost. Over one hundred men had searched for four days previously.

PROBLEMS OF GOVERNMENT.

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—S. E. McClure, of McClure's Magazine, New York, addressed the Canadian Club Saturday on some problems of governments. He said the first problem of government in the United States was better protection of life and property. In this connection he quoted Andrew Carnegie to the effect that 5,000 men, women and children will be murdered in the United States within the next few months.

Control of the industrial corporations, the absolute need of a pure race and the negro question were other problems.

In his address Mr. McClure said: "If I were able to give you advice, I would give you advice on the following lines: 'First—I would make it a matter so clear and plain that every man, woman and child should know it in his heart that the most important institution in the world to-day for human peace and justice and maintaining of the great highways of trade is the British navy. That is one point.'

"Second—I should regard the breed of men as important as the breed of horses and cattle. That is another point. Now, my next point will not get applied, I am afraid. I should reduce the status of provinces to about that of city charters, and make this a real nation and not an assemblage of more or less semi-sovereign states."

TORONTO CHURCH CENSUS.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—The results of church census of the city, which was taken by an army of 3,000 church workers on November 12, shows: Anglican, 53,408; Methodist, 49,902; Presbyterian, 40,580; Roman Catholic, 21,536; Baptist, 13,044; Hebrew, 7,328. The net results of the census indicate that while approximately 98 per cent of the citizens of Toronto profess to belong to some denomination, many of them are not regular attendants at church.

—An interesting local point is being argued before Mr. Justice Clement on a stated case from County Court Judge Wilson, of Nelson. The question is whether, where a workman has been killed in British Columbia and his right representatives sue under the Workmen's Compensation Act, the company alleged to be responsible, relatives living in a foreign country are entitled to the compensation which the act provides, or not. The Crown's Next Pass Coal Company has raised the question in the case of Albert Kraus, one of its workmen killed recently in an accident at Michel. The widow, on whose behalf compensation is sought, resides in Austria, and the contention of the company is that she, being an alien, is not entitled to the benefits of the Workmen's Compensation Act, that only residents of British Columbia are.

—Secretary McFarlane, of the Vancouver Island Development League, was greatly pleased to receive copies of the Southampton, Eng., Civilian, in which have appeared a number of articles from the pen of A. R. Scarlett advocating the formation of a society for encouraging emigration to Vancouver Island. Mr. Scarlett, who is connected with the customs and excise laboratory at Southampton, has been very much impressed with the literature emanating from the Vancouver Island Development League, copies of the different books having been supplied to him by the Hon. J. H. Turner, British Columbia's agent-general in London. His articles have attracted considerable attention.

—The Victoria branch of the Imperial British Israel Association will meet to-morrow evening in No. 1 hall (first floor), A. O. U. W. building. The president will continue the series of studies of "God's Way Among the Nations," particularly in respect to "The Adversary Coming in Like a Flood," and "The Outpouring of the Spirit Upon Israel. When and Where?" A new series is in preparation, entitled "One Fold and One Shepherd: Who, When and Where?" Early in January Professor Odium, chairman of the Carnegie Library, Vancouver, will lecture for the association upon "Our British Israelitish Origin."

PASSING SHOW

Jamieson's Crystal Theatre.

The first week of Manager Robert Jamieson's regime at the Crystal has fully justified this business move on his part. It was impossible to a model all the people who wanted to attend on Saturday evening. Thos. J. Price left the New Grand last night and will open with Mr. Jamieson at the Crystal this afternoon, and Maynard Macdonald will have charge of the operating room in the Broad street theatre. Mr. Clutter, the former operator of the Crystal, exchanging places with him at the Grand. Mr. Macdonald has been with Mr. Jamieson ever since the latter first opened the old Grand on Johnson street, and they both want to stay together, hence the switch. For to-day and to-morrow Mr. Jamieson has secured a fine lot of films, including four of the very latest.

New Empire Theatre.

The Great Aviation Street is the best film ever shown. Ralph Johnston, who was killed since this great meet, is seen racing with Drexel, who has just made another world record. Also will be seen the story of the great balloon race. The New Empire wishes to remind its many patrons that it gives the longest matinee show for the convenience of adults and children who are not able to visit picture-shows in the evening.

Romano Photoplay Theatre.

The management has secured some very fine films which will be shown at this popular picture house to-day and to-morrow. The programme includes some of the very latest and best films by the best makers. "A Deal in Indians" takes first place. This is a typical western picture which is sure to please. "Ten Nights in a Barroom" is taken from the well known story and is one of the big features of the Theatre. The other pictures are all first class, including, "The Gang Leader's Reform," a fine detective story; "The Healing Faith," a fine comedy by Lubin; "The Romano Archer" will play new and appropriate music for the pictures. Melba will sing "Star of My Dreams, Shine on!"

Majestic Theatre.
An intensely dramatic story of the separation of two human hearts through the influence of money is told in the new photograph feature to be shown to-day and to-morrow, entitled "The Message of the Violin." The girl in this instance chooses wealth in preference to love and later learns that her former fiancée has attained fame as a violinist. She hears him play and his message on the instrument makes her realize what she has sacrificed. "An Unfair Game" is a production of telling character. It concerns a young society girl who is spending a holiday in the country. There she meets a hunter who falls in love with her, and she encourages his attentions although engaged at the time to a fiancé in the city. "The Child of the Squadron" is a very human story of French military life in the days of Napoleon. "A Hunt for a Collar" is bound to be appreciated by the average man who has had the same experience, and furnishes great amusement for the spectators.

—This evening at 8 o'clock a meeting of carpenters will be held in Labor hall in connection with the proposition to form a local of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners. Organizer Flett, representing the American Federation of Labor, will be present, and also several other able speakers. All carpenters are invited and a special invitation is given to non-union carpenters.

VICTORIA TIED SECOND GAME

HEROIC RECOVERY IN SECOND HALF

Hardest and Keenest Match in History of Provincial Rugby
—Baker Injured

Victoria (one try and one converted try)—8 points.
Vancouver (one try and one converted try)—8 points.

What is conceded on all sides by old provincial rugby men to be the greatest game that has ever been played on the rugby fields of this province, took place at Brockton Point, Vancouver, on Saturday afternoon, when Victoria and Vancouver tied in the second McKeehan Cup match before 3,000 people, who cheered wildly with excitement as Victoria made the great recovery, turned defeat into safety and only lost a victory through some original refereeing on the part of Referee McKay.

With eight points against them, and the first half of the game gone, the champions got down to work and undertook the seemingly impossible task of equalling the score set by the Vancouver fifteen in the first forty minutes of play. Victoria put up a thrill a second and piled on the necessary eight points in less than fifteen minutes, and thereafter held the terminals down and had decidedly the best of the remainder of the game.

For the first forty minutes Victoria could not get started, chiefly owing to the tactics of Referee McKay who, on every occasion Victoria got away with the ball, called a scrum; and owing also to the brilliancy of the International, Ross, in the scrum, whose heeling-out was ninety per cent. better than that of the Victoria men. With the old Watsonian, Baker, in the Vancouver three-quarter line, and his three companions working like a machine, Vancouver got away time after time, but were pulled to the ground by the forwards of the Victoria teams nearly as often.

The first try came when the half had gone twenty minutes, and Savers got over the line a yard from the side. The conversion failed. Victoria made several desperate attacks, and more than once seemed likely to score, but the defence was impregnable. On other occasions the ball was fumbled when a chance occurred, and the few hundred times and time again.

Referee McKay awarded Vancouver the second try, which side-line observers declare was dragged across from the side-line. Locke made a beautiful kick from the side and converted in splendid style. Victoria with eight points against the team, commenced to wake up and get some formation. They appeared better in the scrum, and the three-quarters, although they were too close together and not far enough behind each other, did better work and the fumbling ceased.

Newcombe had in the beginning of the game been tripped across the eyes with a jersey sleeve, and could not see. Hoppwood had been punched in the left eye and was handicapped. Jeffs received the ball hard-kicked on the forehead, and was dazed for a time, but the team held together and was pressing hard when the interval came.

All that was crowded into the final forty minutes was vigorous and strenuous football, made up of determined rushes by Victoria, splendid heeling in the scrum, clever heady work by the three-quarters and a game of give-and-take, muscle and brawn, that engendered things immensely, and kept the spectators on the edge of excitement. Victoria attacked right from the kickoff, and held the play in the Vancouver half till, getting it from a scrum, Newcombe passed the ball out and it was hustled down the side-line. Sweeney, racing across, intercepted it and with three Vancouver men piling upon him touched down Victoria's first try. The touch was made at the extreme left of the field and the conversion was therefore particularly hard and failed.

Victoria took the game in hand again and held the advantage. It became a fierce tussle. Victoria to tie the score, and Vancouver to increase the lead. At times a player would get away for a moment, only to be brought crashing to the ground by a good low tackle from the Victoria side. The ball was rushed into Victoria half by Baker, the star three-quarter of the Vancouver team. H. Gillespie charged him, caught him by the trunk and brought the player low; the ball went down into the Vancouver twenty-five, and a try looked possible, when the players realized that McKay had stopped the play. The cause was after being collared by Gillespie. Baker was carried from the field with an injured rib, and Saturday night, being in pain, was ordered to the hospital, where the physicians were unable to determine whether he suffered from a broken rib only or from internal hemorrhage as well.

The play was continued and the advance of Victoria was continued at once. Locke, the Vancouver fullback, defended, and was clearing the ball when Vincent made a splendid effort, carrying player and ball across the line. Vincent's rush separated the ball from Locke, and Vincent touched down, just by the goal post. Ronald Gillespie made no mistake and, converting with ease, tied the score.

The game then became more and more strenuous. Stacey took Baker's place on the three-quarter line, coming from the pack, and Victoria had the best of the heeling and individually the best of the play. The ball was rushed up and down the field, players were dropped on both sides like nine pins in a bowling alley. Nason, with two men watching him particularly, made splendid efforts to get away, but they finally put the James Bay boy out of business, and play was stopped while he recovered. At Gillespie in a rush, was sent spinning to the side-line, landing on his head and remaining upright in the air, feet first, for a second before he did a vaudeville stunt and landed on his feet.

The players became heated, Victoria especially over McKay's decisions, and finally a voice was heard through the clamor. "Come on, boys, mark your men, and play the referee, too." McKay became dignified, stopped the play and threatened to order the next man who opened his mouth off the field.

H. Gillespie in the latter part of the second half made two brilliant saves, tackling low and well, and getting away, put the ball down the ground outside the line with splendid kicks. Johnston made some magnificent kicks, hitting his side-line distance long and accurately. McGuigan tackled like a demon, and made some brilliant runs; and the three-quarters were equal to the Vancouver combination at its best.

Once Victoria should have scored, the Vancouver forwards were taken by surprise, but Newcombe was too close for the ball and only half grasped it. By the time he recovered the chance was gone. On another occasion the scrum heated out, and the ball was behind the Vancouver scrum with Hoppwood and Jeffs, and only one man to pass with ten yards to go. The Vancouver man held the ball, rushed forward and was collared. Hoppwood secured and was in the act of sprinting for the line when McKay called the play back to the centre and gave Vancouver a free kick for off-side.

Many times the play was stopped before the end of the game because the Vancouver players were resting from hard bumps. In fact, the heavy Vancouverites through-out showed a tenderness that is really alarming. It was either the wind knocked out of them, their knees twisted or their ribs shouldered. One way and another they seemed to put themselves right in the way of the hard knocks. Heineky collared a Vancouver man who kicked himself free and gave a flat-footed hind kick like a horse, catching Heineky just below the face. The little two-hundred-pounder was side-on and did not see the aggressor, so mistaking his man went after the one nearest. That one showed a look of bewilderment when the man who received the mule kick shouldered up to him. Jeffs, who saw the whole occurrence, butted in and prevented hostilities.

Two men were played on to Nason. Once the boy got away, but was brought down by a man weighing two hundred. Nason kicked like a hare and got free, only to slip on the slippery ground in his second attempt to fly over the line. On a dry ground he would have been over. McGuigan in the first half, to escape danger, ran across the line with the ball and had to beat it in again to save the situation. He made one of the most brilliant and desperate runs of the match and brought the ball over the twenty-five again, eluding seven men before he was stopped. Vancouver and Victoria spectators alike stood in the stand and cheered the University boy.

When the second half commenced the Victoria "male voice choir," about twenty strong, took up a situation on the far side-line, and their cheering and enthusiastic support had its effect in keeping the men stirred up to the utmost pitch of determination. A snail boy got his companions together and said: "Let's go along and jar that Victoria bunch." Vincent just then made the try and Gillespie converted, and the snail boy and his friends became disheartened.

The game ended with Victoria on the aggressive and likely to score; certainly playing round their opponents and in far the better condition, despite the fact that Vancouver had insisted on forty-minute halves, instead of thirty-five minutes, thinking Victoria unable to last but the extra time.

McKay's refereeing was unsatisfactory, and he was chosen from the five names submitted to Victoria because he was the one man unknown here, and the committee decided to take a chance on him. The grounds were in good condition, but slippery. The weather was fine and bright, and the game throughout was generally admitted the fastest and keenest ever seen in this province. The teams were:

Victoria—Back, Johnston; three-quarters, H. Gillespie, Vincent, McGuigan and Nason; half backs, Newcombe and A. Gillespie; forwards, Miller, Jeffs, Hopp-wood, Heineky, Holt, S. Gillespie, R. Gillespie and L. Sweeney.

Victoria West vs. Garrison

Despite their ill-shooting, the Victoria West soccer eleven scored a two-to-nothing victory over the Garrison team

at the Royal Athletic park on Saturday.

Although the westerners worked a splendid combination and beat the soldiers'

backs time after time, they were, owing to their inability to shoot, unable to make a more creditable showing. The sturdy

Garrison men, who through misfortune had to play on a somewhat short and greater part of the match, proved dangerous on several occasions, and sent in stinging shots, which kept Goalkeeper

Beasley on the alert.

Victoria West had a decided advantage,

and although at times they had to extend themselves to prevent the Tommies from scoring, the result was never in doubt.

The green-and-whites could have made a larger tally had the forwards been able to locate the net. Out of the numerous openings they received very few of the shots went anywhere but the goal. Sherritt especially was off color, he being far from accurate when it came to the long drives.

Things went along merrily during the first ten minutes of the game, both teams

indulging in spirited runs, but none resulting in any damage being done. After fiddling around with the ball in mid-field

the Wests broke away and attacked the Garrison's back division. The latter were, however, prepared for the onslaught, and repulsed the assailants. Prevost quickly returned the ball to the soldiers' end and Capt. Okell's forwards, slipping past their opposing backs and lurching together, managed to best the custodian, S.

Thackeray, who received the ball from

Jock Wright, doing the trick. Prevost shortly afterwards missed a penalty awarded when Elton charged. Peden. After this the Wests became loose in their play and the soldiers intercepted passes frequently. While repelling an attack

Dugan, one of the Garrison backs, slipped over the ball and sprained his knee. He was removed to the dressing room, and from then on until near the close of time the Tommies played but ten men. Although only opposed by ten players the

their determined attempts to avoid it,

the Tommies had to accept the whitewash.

The teams lined up as follows:

Victoria West—Goal, Beasley; full backs,

Prevost and Cooper; half backs, Bailey,

Pettierow and A. Thackeray; forwards,

Wright, Sheritt, Peden, Thackeray and McDermitt.

Garrison—Goal, Stromley; full backs,

Elton and Dugan; half backs, Buxton,

Sullivan and Brown; forwards, Gale,

Ward, Stevens, Robertson and Buxton.

Referee Allen gave general satisfaction.

North Ward vs. Esquimalt.

It was not an easy thing for the North

Ward eleven in their match against Esquimalt by any means, although the score of 4-1 appears to indicate a decisive victory. North Ward had to struggle for every point, two of the goals being more or less gifts through the Esquimalt goal making a bad mull on each occasion. Esquimalt not only held their opponents down in the second half, but came to nearly scoring on several occasions.

The supporters of the respective teams were out in force, and through the initial half there was much cheering and general enthusiasm. North Ward scored three times, Hudson scoring the second goal from nearly half way, which the Esquimalt goalie attempted to fist out, but the result was he missed it altogether.

Slater doing the trick for Esquimalt after some pretty passing by the forwards.

The concluding period found Esquimalt awake to their damage, and playing with more dash and vigor they rushed on the North Ward citadel and kept up a steady onslaught, but could not penetrate the defence of North Ward. Just before the final whistle was blown North Ward scored the last and final goal of the match through Miller.

From a spectator's point of view, both teams have a lot to learn, and the only way to remedy this is continual practice, which will enable the players to get a better understanding between each other.

J. B. A. A. vs. Foresters.

Probably the only surprise packet handed out to football enthusiasts on Saturday was in the game between the Bays and

A. O. F. in which the collar team held their opponents down to a draw, the score being one goal all. Sam Lorimer's aggregation was picked as the winners, as the Foresters' luck of late has been unable to tear from the common-sense team, and for once, however, the Bays' line up on the field with as good a team, but high from the common-sense team, and went after the scalps of the Bays. The forwards waded in and the southerners goal-tender was kept busy clearing the ball. One shot, however, back him and at this stage of the game, it looked as though the Foresters would emerge from the fray winners. Luck was against them, for when the attacking division was invaded by the Bays' territory, Ray fell and was badly injured. From then on the boys holding down the bottom position of the league, inviolated and through the loss of Ray, did not do any effective work.

The Bays scored once in the initial half.

With both teams on an even footing the players tried for a winning goal, but neither was successful. For the greater part of this half the Foresters had to play a defence game, the forwards falling back to assist the backs in preventing the Bays from scoring.

SECOND DIVISION.

Playing with fine combination and shooting, whenever an opening presented itself, the Baraca eleven recorded a five-to-nothing win over the Garrison, which was the largest score of the day. The short passes of the Baraca forwards non-passed the soldiers' backs, who were beaten frequently. By winning this match

the Baraca boys still retain the second position in the league.

There seems to be little hope for the Fifth Regiment team, landing anywhere

but in the cellar position, as on Saturday that aggregation went down to its seventh consecutive defeat. The Hills were the winners on this occasion by the score of two goals to nil. Throughout the season, boys played well and victories and at times it was impossible for the regiment's backs to hold the Hills' forwards in check. Thomas, the speedy forward, was responsible for both goals.

It was an easy matter for the North

Ward team to dispose of the Victoria

West eleven. The game was somewhat one-sided, the blue and whites scoring four goals while their opponents failed to negulate once. During the second half the Wests braced up and threatened to score,

but owing to the good work of the Ward's backs they were unable to send

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

The lady who came to spend the day with mother yesterday brought her little grandchild. And at 1 o'clock when school was out, the little girl from two floors down the street came over to play dolls with her.

Mother produced some of the old family playthings in the way of doll's furniture for them, and for awhile they played most happily in the next room to my study. And then all at once, I was conscious of a discord. The dispute concerned the arrangement of the furniture.

"But they never have bureaus in parlors," I heard.

"Yes they do. When we lived in the boarding house we had a bureau in our parlor behind the screen."

"But we haven't got a screen."

"I don't care. We've got to have the bureau in the parlor because if we don't there'll only be a piano and a chair, and you can't have a parlor with just a piano and a chair."

"But you can't have a bureau in a parlor, and I won't."

"Then I won't play, and I don't like you, and I'm going down and get grandma to take me home. I don't want to play with you. So there."

"This last remark, delivered in a shrill tone, audible all over the house, brought grandmother to the scene of action."

"Madeline, don't you dare say that naughty thing again," she reproved.

"Of course you will play with the other little girls and play as they want to. You know you can't have your own way all the time."

"That's the worst thing about Madeline," she explained to me subsequently, when comparative peace had been restored. "When she can't have her own way she sits down and says 'I won't play.' I think that's a terrible trait for a child. If she were my child I'd break her of it no matter what I had to do."

With difficulty I repressed a smile. Not because I don't agree with grandmother. I do, thoroughly. I don't know any trait I dislike more in a child than the "I won't play" habit. But you see I dislike it even more in grown-ups. And that's why I smiled.

For once on a time Madeline's grandmother used to be a very active member of a certain club. She isn't any longer because the club voted to change its place of meeting to one more generally accessible. Madeline's grandmother vigorously opposed the move, but lost. Therefore, she said, the grown-up equivalent of "I won't play" and left the club in wrath.

There was a woman in our neighborhood, who used to be a strong church member but who hasn't been inside the church this year. She thought the society needed a change of ministers. The trustees thought differently. So she said, "I won't play until you do what I want," and hasn't been inside the church since.

Two of my neighbors who are usually active workers in the church fair, are doing nothing this year. Why? Because they wanted the church to hire a large hall for the sale, and the majority of the worshippers deemed that unwise. So these highly charitable and religious folks said, "We won't play," and retired into their respective corners to sulk and hope the fair would be a failure.

But why multiply instances? You know the "I won't play" folks as well as I do.

And hate them as much, I have no doubt.

So, of course, I don't need to suggest that you be sure to resemble them in the slightest degree!

MORAN DEFEATS BATTLING NELSON

The Birmingham Lightweight Knocks Out the Battler in Eleventh Round

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 28.—Owen Moran, Birmingham, Eng., on Saturday knocked out Battling Nelson, Hegewisch, Ill., in the eleventh round of a scheduled, 20-round fight at Blot's arena, to decide on a legitimate opponent for Champion Ad Wolgast.

Moran's victory was clean and leaves no room for argument as to his complete mastery over the one-time champion. He was compelled to drop Nelson five times in this round. Despite the force of Moran's right-hand punches on the point of the chin, the wonderful fighting spirit of the Dane was ever present and one second after the final count had been tolled off and before Ben Sells, above the din, shouted, "You're out," Moran who Nelson was on his feet, with blood streaming from his mouth and nostrils, begging the referee to permit him to continue.

When the referee declared him the victor, Moran turned a handspring into the air of his seconds and dashed from the ring without a mark to indicate that he had been in a fight. "I always knew I could turn the trick," he later declared, "and you bet I feel proud to have been the first man to put Nelson out. Now I want Wolgast. The sooner the match can be made, the better."

Nelson declared that he had been counted out prematurely. He said: "It lacked but three seconds for the round to end, and I believe that I would have been as fresh as ever in the next round. However, Moran deserves all the credit. He is a great little fighter and will be able to hold his own against any of them."

It is estimated that 8,000 persons witnessed the fight and Promoter Coffroth stated that the receipts will approximate $12,101. Nelson's end of the purse is $2,500. Moran received $3,000.

Nelson lands straight left to the nose and another straight left to the kidney. In a fierce rally Nelson battered Moran right and left to the body and head. The crowd yells for Nelson. Moran lands right to the head. Nelson misses and Moran lands right to the jaw. Moran shoots right to the jaw and repeats. Owen battles Nelson with left and right to head. Moran lands a right uppercut. The gong ended a fierce mix near Nelson's corner. Even round.

Moran whips in a hard right to the stomach, and another to the kidney. Nelson misses left spin and catches Moran with left on the ear. Nelson misses left hook on the ear and Moran counters to the jaw and hanged Nelson on the jaw with left and right. Moran lands hard right to the stomach and a hard left to the jaw. Nelson roughs it in the clinch. Moran lands right swing to the jaw and then right uppercut Nelson. He repeats a second later. Moran smiling over Nelson's shoulder. Moran's round.

They clinch and in the breakaway Nelson lands left to jaw hard. Owen put a stiff right to the jaw and Nelson replied with a good solid right to the stomach. Moran put a straight left to the nose and landed a very hard right to the cheek. They exchange right and left swings. They clinch. Owen put a good right swing over the kidneys. They wrestle and clinch. Coming out, Nelson put a hard right cross to the jaw and blocked a hard right for the stomach. Even round.

Round 10—Nelson lands straight left to the jaw. They clinch and wrestle. Moran sends straight left to face and peppers the Battler with right and lefts. Moran puts Nelson on the floor with a right to the head. Nelson rises and is again flooring. Nelson was up at the count of six. Moran again drops him. Moran puts Nelson down for the fourth time with a vicious right to the jaw. Nelson goes down for the knockout. Nelson protests. On the fifth knock down Nelson tips forward, Moran slamming him on the jaw. Nelson was battered to the mat five times in all. The last time he went down under a right hook and a shove. He alighted on his head and turned a complete somersault.

The crowd overflowed the ring and the police were kept busy maintaining order. The finish came so suddenly that no one seemed to know whether Nelson had been counted out or the fight stopped, but the finish will go as a knockout.

LADYSMITH NOTES.

(Special Correspondence to the Times.)
Ladysmith, Nov. 28.—The first ball of the season held by the local firemen on Thursday night in Goul's hall was an unqualified success, both socially and financially. The affair was a masquerade, and many prizes were donated by the merchants of the city. Three judges from out of town awarded these prizes. Super was served at 12. A handsome balance resulted with which the brigade will buy extension ladders and other fire-fighting apparatus.

Mrs. R. G. Jessop left on Wednesday for a few days' visit to Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart entertained a large number of friends at their home, "Carn Bawn," on Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Frost left on Monday for tonight's visit to Vancouver and Seattle, and other South cities. Mr. Bywater, of Vancouver, succeeds Mr. Johnston as electric light engineer.

the body of Prince Ylan Chow Cum, a leader in the Boxer uprising, has been located in the pauper section of a cemetery at Alamosa, Colo. The body has been exhumed.

It was clothed in mandarin robes, with yellow jacket and peacock feathered cap. Enclosed in a splendid coffin, emblazoned with golden Chinese dragons and started on its journey to China, where it will be interred in the vaults of the rulers of the Ming dynasty.

Favorite of former Emperor Kwang-su, whose cousin he was, as well as of Empress Tai An, the emperor's mother, Prince Ylan was a power, especially in the Pei Ho valley, until his connection with the Boxers became known. The yellow cord—silk in the case of princes— notifies the recipient that his suicide is expected, was handed to Prince Ylan by a messenger from the palace.

This was said to have been decided upon to pacify Germany for the assassination of Baron von Ketteler, German ambassador to Peking, by the Boxers. Prince Ylan ignored the suggestion and fled the country, finally arriving at Pueblo, where friendly but poor Cantonese, who knew nothing of his rank and titles, took him in and cared for him until he died, four years ago, of tuberculosis. The absence of funds necessitated burial in pauper's grave.

SCOUTS' FIELD DAY WAS EDUCATIONAL

"Great" is the word to be given to the field day held by the Boy Scouts of Victoria on Saturday. Some of the incidents which happened will live long in the memories of those who took part in the operations. The general idea was that the suburban troops were to carry despatches through the lines held by the city troops, whose duty it was to guard the city limits from water to water. The Scout commissioner for British Columbia, Lieut. Col. J. A. Hall, was in command of operations.

The city troops watched the city boundaries as follows, to intercept despatches:

A. From Foul Bay, to Oak Bay Avenue.
B. Oak Bay Avenue to Fort street.
C. Fort street to King's road.
D. King's road to Cedar Hill road.
E. Gorge to Harbor waterfront.
G. H. Cedar Hill road to Douglas street.

L. D. Douglas street to the Gorge. The Scouts, 300 all told, entered into their work with enthusiasm and some quaint hiding places were used to conceal the despatches from the "enemy." The rules provided that if Scouts were captured and despatches were not discovered within five minutes they were to be released.

Some of the messages written by the Scouts were not without humor. One wrote asking "Will your fathers hold out for another day." Another took a hit at the Scout commissioner when he wrote: "Pierce fighting around Elk Lake; your garrison will probably be reduced to Chemical Works, water." Another scout of the Douglas Street branch wrote: "Douglas street with magnificent mine-traps." Another wrote: "Hunt Club breaking all international laws of neutrality; take all prisoners you can." The Hunt Club must have offended him one way or another.

One little chap who tried to hide his message in an apple found some of his fellow Scouts waiting for him only to have his scheme vanquished. He was captured soon after he got over the city lines, and when his captors began to search him he foolishly took the apple out of his pocket and began to eat it, but it did not work.

The victory fell to the Suburban Scouts. They managed to get the greater percentage of messages that were carried through. Seventy despatches were carried through the lines, only five being captured. The suburban troops will get approximately 70 marks against five for the city troops. There are two disputes to be settled. The rules provided that the boys must be caught within 100 yards of the boundaries, and the disputing scouts have been called upon to make maps, indicating their positions. When these are submitted a decision will be given.

After the operations were over the Scouts proceeded to the drill hall, where they were drawn up, and addressed by the commissioner on the afternoon's work. Headed by their band they afterwards marched through the principal streets of the city, presenting a very smart appearance.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

In common with their brethren in other parts of the Dominion, local Scots will celebrate the anniversary of their patron saint on Wednesday next by holding a grand banquet. As already announced, the function will take place in the Empress hotel, and everything has been done to make this, the seventh annual banquet of St. Andrew's Society, the most successful in the history of that body. An interesting toast list has been prepared, several representative citizens being among those who will propose and respond to the various toasts.

The musical part of the programme will be first-class, and will be contributed to by well known local singers. The Empress hotel orchestra will accompany appropriate music during the evening, and selections will be given by the society's pipers. The most important item on the menu will, of course, be the haggis, which will be ushered in with due honors.

Next to New Year's Eve, St. Andrew's night is the most important in the calendar of the Scot abroad, and it goes without saying that the attendance will be large and representative.

A regular meeting of the society will take place to-night, when the principal business will be the election of officers for the ensuing year.

Happiness is a word very lightly used, it may mean little, it may mean much. By the word happiness I would signify, not the momentary joy of a child who gets a plaything, but the lasting harmony between our inclination and our objects; without this harmony we are a discord to ourselves, we are incompleteness, we are failures.—Lord Lytton.

LOCAL NEWS

The usual meeting of the Baptist Young People's Union of Emmanuel Baptist church will be in the hands of the missionary committee to-night, when a good time is expected.

The regular weekly practice of the opera, "Chimes of Normandy," will be held this evening at 8 o'clock sharp in the Ciel Club hall, Yates street, over F. R. Stewart & Co.'s store. A full attendance is requested.

At the largely attended meeting in the New Grand theatre yesterday afternoon, Rev. T. E. Hoising delivered an address on the friends and foes of child life, and Dr. Ernest Hall spoke on the effects of alcohol on the child. The Centennial band was in attendance.

"Accidental death," was the verdict returned by the coroner's jury at the inquest held to investigate the circumstances surrounding the death of Quing Gre, who was instantly killed on Thursday afternoon at the Michigan-Puget Sound Lumber Co.'s mills. The evidence showed that the Chinaman had met his death owing to his negligence and that no blame could be attached to anyone.

W. J. Hanna and other members of a committee of property owners on Pandora avenue this morning, in company with James Smith, city engineer, paid a visit of inspection to that portion of the city which will be traversed by the street, if the proposed connection from Harrison street to Oak Bay avenue be made. It is hoped to make such progress with the scheme as to permit the necessary by-law to be passed before the expiration of the term of the present council.

Robert Morrison has arranged a concert to be given in the Victoria theatre Friday evening. Miss Munn, New Westminster, has been engaged for the occasion and will be heard in a duet and trio besides her solos. Mrs. W. A. Gleason, always a favorite with a Victorian audience, is on the programme for two numbers. Mrs. Butler's fine contralto voice will be heard to advantage. Others taking part will be Miss Murray, Highland dancer; Jack Melville, comedian; W. Galt, J. G. Brown and Edgar Battray. Mrs. Lewis Hall will act as accompanist.

CALEDONIAN SOCIETY.

Next Wednesday evening the Caledonian Society will celebrate St. Andrew's day at the Dominion hotel by a dinner in honor of the event. Besides the members of the society there will be a number of invited guests present, and a good programme of toasts and songs is provided. The host of the Dominion hotel is noted for providing good things for the inner man, and with the menu provided, as well as a good representation of citizens present, and enjoyable time is expected.

It was a m. and Bilkins crept softly into the house and removed his shoes, but as he tiptoed upstairs one of the tread gave a loud creak. "Is that you, John?" demanded Mrs. Bilkins from above. "No, my love," replied Bilkins. "It's the stairs."—Judge.

LIBERALS ENDORSE BUILDING SCHEME

General Meeting at Vancouver Unanimously in Favor of Plan

At the annual meeting of the Vancouver Liberal Association held at the week-end, the scheme to erect provincial Liberal headquarters in Vancouver at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars was endorsed. It was decided not to wait for the calling of a provincial convention, but to proceed at once.

J. W. Veart gave the details of the proposal and dwelt upon the importance of the project from an organization point of view. The executives of Vancouver and New Westminster had already endorsed the proposal, but when it came before the provincial executive, they decided it would be better for a Liberal convention to deal with it.

It is proposed to raise the money on debentures, raising from $100 to $1,000 each and bearing interest at from 3 to 5 per cent. Two years will be given in which to meet those debentures. A resolution endorsing the plan was passed unanimously, and Messrs McCroskey, Cameron, Stables and Maxwell Smith were appointed a committee to prepare a complete report.

Officers for 1911 were elected with enthusiasm. Local cheers greeted the announcement that the retiring president, J. H. Sinclair, had been unanimously returned to office as president for the next year. Nearly all the other retiring officers were re-elected as follows: Honorary president, Sir William Lambie; honorary vice-presidents, Ralph Smith, John Oliver, president, Mr. J. H. Sinclair, vice-presidents, James R. Cameron, G. E. McCroskey, and W. H. Hickey; secretary, S. L. Grant; treasurer, Robert Kelly.

LOSER TRESSER WHILE ASLEEP

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 28.—Having valued his jewelry and watches with care on his dresser, untouched, a microscopist whose identity is unknown to the police, entered the room of Miss Bertha M. Parks, 19 years old, at her home, 1216 East 15th street, Friday night, and stole her jewelry, including with her sister, and from her head long tresses of deep, auburn hair and escaped with his plunder.

The Advance Man

"Madame X." To-night.

"Madame X," the impressive drama of mother-love which Henry W. Savage will offer at the Victoria theatre this evening, is a play of such universal appeal and of such tremendous dramatic power that it attracts many thousands of persons whom the theatre does not ordinarily impress.

Women especially are interested in its wonderfully striking study of a mother's sacrifice for her son, while among men there is a like unusual feeling of interest, since love for one's mother is perhaps the very strongest emotion a man is capable of. In addition such special classes as lawyers and judges are drawn irresistibly by "Madame X," for the play gives a detailed and absolutely accurate view of the peculiar French legal system, a matter that came under the special regard of the legal fraternity during the recent controversy over the famous Steinhil trial in Paris.

More than sixty persons appear in the thrilling court room scene, which represents faithfully to the very last detail a murder trial in a French assize court, with all the "couleur locale," the picturesque costumes, the pompous and impressive formalities and incidents shown in high relief.

This play, as every person who reads a newspaper is aware, has achieved the reputation of being the most widely-discussed and celebrated drama of modern times, and its local "hit" will undoubtedly attract one of the largest audiences ever gathered to witness a theatrical attraction here. Mr. Savage promises a production and company of a standard of excellence rarely seen outside of the largest cities, and the absolute guarantee is given that "Madame X" will be seen here, even in the smallest detail, exactly as presented in New York and Chicago, where it held capacity audiences, literally spellbound for the greater part of last season.

Heading the brilliant company organized by Mr. Savage are Miss Adelaide Dunlop as Jacqueline, the drug-drenched heroine, who is redeemed through the fires of mother-love; Howard Gould, as the husband and father, and Robert Ober, who has scored strongly as the young lawyer who pleads for the life of his mother, the trial, without knowing his client's relationship to himself. The other characters are in equally capable hands and the company, with its dramatic ensemble, employs over one hundred persons.

Ellen Terry's Visit.

Tickets for Miss Terry's performance here on December 4 have been mailed to the members of the Victoria Musical Society. Should members not receive their tickets they are requested to communicate with Clifford Denham at the box office at the Victoria theatre immediately. Numerous profits for the entertainment of Miss Terry, while in the city, are under way. Boxes for the performance have been secured by J. Horrick McGregor, president of the Victoria Musical Society, Mrs. Matson, Mrs. Dunsmuir, Mrs. Flumerie, Mrs. Trewartha-James and Vincent Schwabe.

Max Figman Coming.

Max Figman's success in "Mary Jane's Pa" was so great last season and the demand for return engagements so many, that John Corrie is keeping him in the play again this season. "Mary Jane's Pa" is said to be the best vehicle Mr. Figman has ever had. The role of Hiram Perkins, who departs his wife and family and afterward returns like a modern Enoch Arden, is exactly fitted to his peculiar style of acting. It is a part that, while unlikely in the first act, comes most appealing as the play goes on. Mr. Figman will be the attraction at the Victoria theatre on December 7.

"A Broken Idol."

"A Broken Idol," the latest of musical playlets, which comes with the recommendation of eight months at the Whitney theatre in Chicago, six months at the Herald Square, in New York, and six months at the Tremont, in Boston, will be seen at the Victoria theatre on December 5. The story of the piece is laid in and around Los Angeles. Opening in the quaint Chinese quarter during the Chinese New Year celebration, and from there to Santa Monica, it has given the scenic artist, costumer and electrician free scope for gorgeous display.

Typists and Employers.

Behind the securely closed doors of their meeting place at the Eustace Miles restaurant, members of the Association of "Short-hand Writers and Typists," of London, England, spent a cheerful evening discussing the merits and demerits of typewriters.

One bold speaker drew rounds of applause by advocating the institution of schools for educating the employer. "The employer," she declared, "has to undergo an often expensive training in order to work under a man who not only knows how to dictate properly, nor to speak clearly and modulate his voice. This makes work unnecessarily complicated and tiresome."

"The employer is the proper study of the employee," said Miss Fitzgerald, "this subject is not included in the curriculum of training schools. Men are absolutely different in their offices from what they are in their homes. Often they are much nicer, but the employee should find out all their idiosyncrasies and fall in with them. Some like corns, let them have them by all means. Others like full-stops. Every man has some particular word it is fond of, however, it is a very usual one, and though it is generally outside a man's vocabulary, let him use it as often as he likes."

Twice in the course of her employment the speaker continued, she had had to take down proposals of marriage from her employers. The first time it happened she was so surprised that she wrote the statement that "he was sending her a bunch of roses because the new" were the color of her cheeks that the lady might prefer to receive the letter in hand, explaining that he was much too busy to write it by hand. She was glad to say that neither of these proposals was accepted.

All the speakers agreed in preferring to work for a private employer rather than a committee or limited company, who were wont to regard their employees as machines rather than individuals.

INSPECTOR DEW RESIGNS

Resigning After Having Been Connected With Metropolitan Police for Nearly Twenty-Nine Years.

Lloyd's Weekly News is authoritatively informed that Chief Inspector Dew, of Scotland Yard, has tendered his resignation to the chief commissioner of police. Chief Inspector Dew will not actually leave Scotland Yard for several weeks yet. When he does, it is stated, he will set up in business as a confidential inquiry agent.

Joining the Metropolitan Police force nearly twenty-nine years ago, Mr. Dew has been associated with the leading criminal cases of the past quarter of a century. His first case into prominence at the time of the "Jack the Ripper" crimes. For his services in relation to these cases he was promoted to the rank of detective-sergeant.

Since that time rapid progress has marked his career, until he came to the office of the foremost positions in the service. After some years as inspector at Bow street he attained the aim of every detective of the C. I. D.—he was four years ago appointed a chief inspector in succession to Frank Frost.

Chief Inspector Dew has produced proofs in hundreds of forgeries charges. Several difficult murder cases were cleared up by him, and many huge frauds were exposed.

It was in 1907 and 1908 when the Bruce case was in full swing, that Mr. Dew was given a watching brief by the commissioner, as the result of which one Saturday night in Jan. 1908, he arrested Miss Robinson, the Australian witness, on a charge of perjury. It will be remembered that Miss Robinson, the daughter of an Australian policeman, swore that she was an Australian, and that she was formerly a maid in the service of the fifth Duke of Portland at Welbeck, and that she knew both from the Duke and the late Charles Dickens, that Bruce was an assumed name of the Duke.

Prior to her arrest Miss Robinson had created some sensation by offering a hundred pounds reward for the recovery of a mythical diary which she said had been stolen from her to prevent her giving evidence in the case. Inspector Dew arrested her on the collapse of the Bruce prosecution, and secured her conviction on the perjury charge at the Old Bailey.

During the whole of the "Jack the Ripper" outrages Inspector Dew was stationed in Whitechapel, and took part in all the exciting searches, incidents and inquiries which those crimes entailed.

He was entrusted with the difficult task of unearthing the mysterious disappearance of Belle Elmore, and after the flight of Dr. Crippen he directed the excavations at Hildrop-crescent which resulted in the discovery of the remains of the missing woman.

When news came by wireless of Dr. Crippen's presence on the Montrose, Chief Inspector Dew was able to take a fancy boat to Canada and await the vessel at Father Point.

Chief Inspector Dew has served twenty-nine years in the Metropolitan police force, and was, therefore, entitled to a pension three years ago. On the Continent, as in this country, his astuteness and tact have won him fame.

During the time he has been at Scotland Yard Mr. Dew has been in charge of the leading investigations. His quiet, unassuming disposition secured him considerable popularity among his colleagues.

After five long years of suffering, he tried Cuticura-Ointment and Cuticura Soap. Then cured him. Can not praise them too highly. — Frank Revell, 47, East St., Newton Abbot, Devon.

Baby's face like piece of raw beef. Smothered with bad pimples. A wail to look at. Scratched and cried terribly. They feared he would always be disfigured, but Cuticura Remedies quite cured him. — Mrs. Perry, 99, Waterloo Rd., Aldershot, Hants.

Scratched twenty-eight years until it got to be second nature. Suffering from psoriasis was endless and without relief. Shed scales constantly and wasted $200 on useless treatments. Cuticura Remedies made skin clear as a baby's. — Dennis Downing, Watseburg, Vt.

Baby would have died but for Cuticura Remedies. Itchy rash on his head when but three months old. It spread over entire body. Put millions on him to prevent tearing skin. Reduced to a skeleton. ## Now Is the Time to Buy to Make Money

For to-day, Monday, we can sell the corner, with frontage of 60 feet on Pandora, 120 feet on Quadra and 60 feet on Mason, with two houses bringing in a revenue of $55.00 monthly, or over 3 per cent, for $18,000 on terms of one-third cash, balance in 6, 12, 18 and 24 months. With the paving and eluster lighting by-law passed for Pandora this offers a cheaper and more substantial investment for the investor than can be procured in any other part of the city, at about half the cost of the corners similarly situated. Pandora is the artery for the whole of the northeasterly and Spring Ridge districts and this corner is passed by hundreds daily, thus showing the ideal location for three or four large stores such as grocery, chemist, tobacco, fruit or any other class of retail business. Property with only 60 ft. frontage in same locality is held at over twenty-four thousand.

This is unquestionably the best buy in the market to-day, and any one with a little money for investment will do well to look into this proposition now, at once, as price goes to $20,000 if not sold before Wednesday morning.

TAME ALBATROSSES ON BARQUE MIMI

One Bird Was Saved by Captain and Was Later Joined by Five Others

Perched sedately on the port rail of the German barque Mimi, which arrived at San Francisco recently, were six large albatrosses, blinking contentedly at the sea of water about them. It was a strange spectacle to the customs officials, who boarded the windjammer at daybreak, the birds being thoroughly tame and showing no fear of the intruders as they swung on deck to inspect the ship.

During a tempest which battered the barque as she was rounding Cape Horn one of the large birds struck against the ship's rigging and fell to the deck, with a broken wing. The crew called the attention of Captain Westphal to the incident, and the master of the Mimi had the injured albatross removed to his own quarters, took the sufferer in charge and placed the broken wing in splints. The bird gradually became tame and instantly was adopted as the mascot of the vessel.

Some weeks later a flock of five other albatrosses was driven toward the barque by a fierce gale, and sought the Mimi as a harbor of retreat. There they joined the other wanderer of their tribe. Hence, when the windjammer sailed through the Golden Gate the six birds were still on board.

Captain Westphal took great pride in showing the custom house officials his mascots. The birds are perfectly tame, and it is believed that they will sail on the return trip of the Mimi, some three weeks hence.

Somehow he escaped from the doom that befell the hosts of his kindred; he's chippier and whistling and he brags at my scalp with a vim, and heeds not the language I'm throwing at him. Through all the long ages, since Adam was born, the fly has been with us, an object of scorn, serene and unchanging. He's buzzed through the years, and left a long trail of bad language and tears. He tortured the Pharaohs with ticklesome humors and lit for a moment on Abraham's nose. The great men of legend, the heroes of

REQUESTS NEARLY MILLION DOLLARS

Vancouver School By-law is Endorsed by Civic Finance Committee

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—The finance committee of the city council decided to recommend to the council the submission of the school board by-law asking for the expenditure of $667,000 for sites, new buildings and improvements.

The committee were by no means unanimous on the matter. Aid, Melville moved that the expenditure be divided among three by-laws, one covering the purchase of new land, the second the money to be devoted to the high schools, and the third for money to be spent on the other institutions.

Mayor Taylor moved that two by-laws be put to the people, one including the money to be spent upon improvements and the erection of buildings, and the second for the purchase of land. He thought the public would not be permitted to exercise their judgment as to whether they deemed preparation for the future in the way of new sites necessary, or whether they thought it would be wiser that this should be postponed for a while.

Ald. Cook's motion in favor of the by-law as a whole was, however, carried.

The expenditure is detailed as follows: 10th and Cypress streets, extensions to buildings, $32,000; Charles street and Templeman street, $31,000; new building, Kitsilano, $37,000; Baywater street, $22,000; South Mount Pleasant, $27,000; King Edward high school, $100,000; Brandy school, $16,000; Broadway and Lakewood avenue, new building, $32,000; alterations to existing buildings, $20,000; school desks, $8,000; lanes for school sites, $175,000; walks and improvements, $21,000.

Ald. Ramsay informed the school board delegation that the committee deemed their proposals too extravagant and asked if they could not be modified.

Mr. Flumerfelt, the chairman of the board, explained that the estimates had been very carefully drawn up, that nothing had been done in the way of estimates had been included. The board preferred the whole by-law to be submitted to the public as it was.

Asked by Ald. Ramsay regarding the proposed expenditure on the high schools, the superintendent explained that it was proposed to widen the scope of that institution. At present it only catered to students who were preparing for the matriculation examination and it was proposed to afford opportunities for those entering commercial and manufacturing life.

Mayor Taylor at the close of the address of the school officials said he was in favor of passing the by-law even if the council had to save in other directions. Water, sewer and education were the three main items in the city's budget and first to be employed. They were the most important subjects for a city expenditure.

Assistant Solicitor Jones explained that the school board had already exhausted its powers for the year, so that if the city council decided to pass the by-law, the school board would be present state the school board would be unable to compel the submission of the by-law.

INCREASING OUTPUT.

Phoenix, Nov. 26.—The increased activity at the new Dominion Copper Company's properties is a feature of boundary mining. The ore shipments from the Rawhide to the British Columbia Copper smelter have jumped to an average of 500 tons for several days in the week. This has resulted in improved shipping facilities, at the mine by the construction of additional chutes and other development work. The new work has been decidedly encouraging. About 180 men are now employed.

At the Atholstan mine, also New Dominion, some 15 men are employed and preparations are being made to commence shipments, a considerable tonnage having been blocked off. This property adjoins the Jackpot group in Wellington camp. Ore has been now under construction at the mouth of the tunnel and from these a short tramway will be built to convey the ore to the C. P. R. siding at the Jackpot for shipment. The new work will be completed by the end of the year, when shipping will commence to the British Columbia smelter.

NOMINATED AS RURAL DEAN.

New Westminster, Nov. 26.—Rev. E. W. Bartlett, of Ladner, was nominated at a special meeting of the rural deanery of New Westminster to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. C. W. Houghton as rural dean.

In taking medicine, due regard was formerly paid by the superstitious to the positions of the moon at the time different parts of the body, they supposed, being under its influence according to the zodiacal sign through which the planet happened to be passing at the time.

CHILLIWACK CITY HALL.

Council Asks Ratepayers to Sanction Additional Loan of $6,000.

Chilliwack, Nov. 26.—The city council at a special meeting completed a by-law empowering them to raise an additional loan of $6,000 to build the proposed new city hall. Last June a by-law empowering the council to raise $15,000 for the same purpose was sanctioned by the ratepayers. Plans were drawn up for a suitable building that would answer all purposes for a long time to come, but when tenders were asked for, it was found that they were fully $6,000 short of the cost according to the lowest tender. Rather than alter their plans and build an inferior building the council considers it of more economy to ask for the additional amount required. The by-law is being advertised and the vote on it will be taken on the 29th of this month.

Another by-law, that for the raising of $1,250 to provide for the widening of Young street at the Five Corners, was also passed and the vote on it also will take place on the same date as the other. This property owners along the street have petitioned for the widening of from a 40-foot street to one of 52 feet. They have shown their earnestness in their requests by promising six feet of land on both sides, that is most of them have.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

Merritt, Nov. 26.—Jack Horne, an Indian living on the Shuswap reservation, met a terrible death along the local branch line of the C. P. R., his mangled body being dragged beneath the wheels for upwards of twelve miles. When the train stopped at Merritt station the gruesome find was made.

George boarded the train at Spences Bridge and was riding on an empty flat car. Just how he fell under the wheels is not known but it is surmised that he either fell while trying to get off the car near the Petit reserve or he was thrown off by the action of the train. A coroner's jury was empanelled and after hearing all evidence a verdict was returned exonerating the train crew from all responsibility and fixing the death as accidental, due to misadventure.

When the body was found in the local yards it was terribly mangled. Parts of the body were found near the mill switch below Canadian and it was evident that the man after being caught in the wheel was dragged for over twelve miles.

ACTIVITY IN LUMBER CAMPS.

Creston, Nov. 26.—There will be great activity in the lumber camps around here this winter. It is stated that the Yale-Columbia Lumber company will operate their camps all winter full blast, employing about 100 men within a few miles of Creston, while the Huscroft Bros. will open their camp again this winter and employ some 30 men. In addition to this will run the small double shifts this winter and will employ some 50 men. Besides these works it is stated that several other new camps will open up this fall near Creston, so that judging from present appearances there will be several hundred men employed in the timber and saw mill industry in and around Creston this winter.

DARING BURGLARY.

New Westminster, Nov. 26.—One of the boldest burglaries that has ever been perpetrated in the district was pulled off at Langley on Thursday night when some men entered the butcher shop belonging to Mr. Gould, removed a heavy safe bodily from the building, took it across the street to a vacant space behind the city hall, blew the safe to pieces and decamped with a small amount of cash, some clothes and some valuable books. The whole has amounted to about $300. The burglars also took a rifle from the shop.

At the time the safe was taken from the building there were people sleeping above, and the burglars must have done some neat work to get away in the manner they did.

The robbery is the second one that has occurred in Langley this week, and the residents there are becoming alarmed.

BUILDING ACTIVE.

Fernie, Nov. 26.—The new provincial building and court-house is rapidly nearing completion, and presents a very handsome appearance. The Anglican and Baptist churches are making steady progress, the latter being very nearly ready for occupancy, and the former should be completed in time for the Christmas services.

The last fly of summer, which ought to be dead, is buzzing and fooling around on my head. Somehow he escaped from the doom that befell the hosts of his kindred; he's chippier and whistling and he brags at my scalp with a vim, and heeds not the language I'm throwing at him. He tortured the Pharaohs with ticklesome humors and lit for a moment on Abraham's nose. The great men of legend, the heroes of fame, all cursed the poor fly and his innocent game, they swatted and trapped him, and chased him away—the slip of the fly that is with me to-day. Men change in their customs, appearance and ways; a monarchy thrives for a while and decays; the things of this world are all given to change as the ages roll on; they're just the same now as they were at the dawn; they tickle and torture with pestilent tees, they play up your scalp and they fool with your nose. The last fly of summer, no sympathy gains; I chase and overbear him, and knock out his brains.

The determined efforts of the Big home has encouraged our local Jeweller, W. H. Wilkerson, to issue an elaborate catalogue of their own, which shows by actual comparison the advantage of doing all your jewellery buying through them. It is as handsome a book as we have seen, and is a direct challenge to Mail Order Competition to keep hands off, as far as this section is concerned. It adds the "assurance of their personal guarantees with everything they sell, and shows to what surprising extent they are able to meet requirements.

CAFE CHANTANT.

Closing-Performance of a Most Successful Week.

The closing entertainment of the cafe chantant was given before a crowded house on Saturday evening, and previous to the final number A. J.
 C. Galletti, on behalf of the Anti-Tuberculosis society, took the opportunity of publicly thanking all who had in any way assisted in making the affair a success. The audience responded by singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," referring, presumably, to Dr.
 Pagan, the originator of the movement.

The opening tableau, "The Only Public on the Beach," brought a smile to every face, as the curtain rolled up disclosing a sea-side scene, with Mr.
 Elwes reclining contentedly on the sand surrounded by the Misses Cross, Eberts and Mrs. Dietrichs, all of whom were exerting themselves for his amusement. "Mr. Grubb" walks in his "Sleep," was another amusing tableau, given by Mrs. Giddard, Mrs.
 Dietrichs, and Messrs. Collinson, Baines, and Edmonds. It depicted Mr.
 Grubb as a sleep-walker interrupting a merry bridge party. "Why She Didn't Get the Place" showed a pretty girl applying for an office position, with the hope of the gentleman who had advanced her, and the applicant, and the gentleman himself buried behind a newspaper. This was well given by Miss Mackay, Miss Macdowell, and Mr. Collinson.

A very effective number was that staged by Mrs. Genge, "The Bachelor's Dream." Mrs. Jarley's "Wax Works" won their customary applause, and "Child's Telephone," so prettily staged by Mrs. Beauchamp Tye, was again received with enthusiasm. "Meet Me To-night in Dreamland," staged by Miss Lugin, was another very popular number which had been repeated by special request, and Miss Lugin was presented with a handsome bouquet.
 The young Mrs. Mrs. Doril Trevartha-James and Miss Inez Zimmerman, again, delighted the spectators. Both these young ladies were the personification of the poetry of motion, and their easy, graceful movements won them both enthusiastic recalls and floral tributes. The scarf dance, given by Miss Trevartha-James as her first number was very beautifully performed, and the sunshade dance with which she responded to a persistent recall, was decidedly different but equally pretty. A third recall elicited a clever and most laughable cake walk.

Miss Inez Zimmermann, who was accompanied by Miss Genge, gave a repetition of the beautiful Spanish dance which had always proved so popular with the audience, and responded with a vivacious variation of the same movements.

An amusing feature was "Waiting at the Church," by Master Neil North, who is so well and favorably known to Victorians audiences. Dressed as a bride, he sang the song, and when recalled gave a few more verses, much to the amusement of the audience.

Mrs. G. G. Giddard, cleverly-rendered monologue, "A Game of Bridge," was a novel number and exceedingly well received. Seated at a card table, Mrs. Giddard played an imaginary game of bridge with three companions, with whom she carried on a running conversation while the game was in progress, and the appointment this caused to the other players was comically depicted.

A sleight-of-hand performance given on Friday evening by Herr Peters is worthy of special mention. He performed difficult feats in a most amusing way. Watches, cards, coins and other articles appeared and disappeared in a mystifying manner,
 and the performance gave a very pleasing variety to the programme.

Worthy of special mention, too, was the work of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society, to whom fell the monotonous but very profitable business of serving refreshments during the week. They were assisted by a number of young ladies, who were most attentive to the wants of those holding tickets.

At the close of the final performance of the "Mean Song," given so acceptably every evening by Mrs. Roy Troup, with Miss Erminie Bass taking the Chinese dance, and a number of ladies and gentlemen in Chinese costumes as "supporting artists," Mrs. H. Dallas Helmecken, who had so charmingly staged it, was called to the platform and accorded a "public vote of thanks," which was accompanied by a beautiful bouquet.

FROM A GROUCHER.

To the Editor.—An article in the Times of the 24th inst. under the heading of "The Old Country," has been placed before me, and I am glad to find that it is a masterpiece of light and physical perfection, which makes us hopeful of ultimately discovering "perpetual motion" and "squaring the circle." It then salutes them with a sweeping few declares of optimism, disorganizes by comparison to the youth of the entire civilized world, especially England. I now request your permission to take exception to some of the assertions contained in that article, and to be allowed to play David to the Times' "Goliath," but not to "slay" him,
 as with the many peculiarities of his contemporaries, we could not well pull through without the sledge-hammer assistance of our old friend.

Not referring to all the assertions in the editorial mentioned, I will take only one,
 "with which learn all." I challenge the Times' with its knowledge of the world and general liberal mind, pocket and politics, to mention within the next three months a single instance of a city in the Old Country with a population the same as Victoria, whose sons of respectable parents have at any time within the past 20 years systematically burglarized towns in well disciplined gangs with impunity. If this sort of thing has occurred in Victoria, but in any city in the Old Country, our boys, as a body, cannot be truthfully described as "un-
